Fiddle & Find Consignment Terms & Policies

- Items accepted for resale will be on consignment for 60 days with the exception of: holiday items, end-of-season consignment, and specialty items (for example: riding, New England sports gear, dance/gymnastics, cleats, and other sporting gear). After 60 days, any unsold items will be marked as “expired” and consignors will have a one week grace period to pick up unsold items. After that, any remaining items transfer to store ownership or will be donated.
- Donations go primarily to Project Just Because. At times, Fiddle & Find also donates to The Herd or other local charities.
- Once an item is sold, the consignor will receive 40% of the selling price for items priced at $10 and above, and 30% for items priced below $10. For items priced over $100, the consignor will receive 50% of the selling price.
- Fiddle & Find will determine pricing. Periodic markdowns will occur at the discretion of management. For special sales, (such as our semi-annual Fill-a-Bag event) this may result in a small balance adjustment in the consignor’s account.
- If we accept an item and later find that we missed an imperfection, Fiddle & Find will mark the item as damaged and then donate or recycle it. If items require excessive cleaning or lint removal, a small fee may be deducted from your consignor account.
- Consignor payouts are available upon request and can be issued by check, Venmo, or direct deposit from consignor accounts. Balances can be used at any time in-store for 10% discount, otherwise you may request a payout at any time. Accounts that are inactive for one year (no purchases made or payouts requested) will be converted to store credit.

Fiddle & Find is not responsible for any lost, stolen or damaged goods.

Upon signing the contract, an emailed invitation will be sent for consignors to be able to access the Consignor Access. . I have read and fully understand the terms of this consignment agreement.
